

Framing Focus

Multiple Possibilities

One of the most popular home decorating trends today is framing multiple black-and-white photographs in a single metal frame. Color photography, with its vast array of hues, also lends itself to unique, creative matting and framing designs. Creating a framed piece with a photographic theme such as displaying family and vacation memories, is a great way to enhance your decor and add a personal touch to your home.

Black-and-white photography has made a comeback and is one of the latest framing trends, especially for portraits. Children's portraits are particularly popular. To go hand-in-hand with this, we can offer you mat designs featuring sequences of multiple poses. Together, we can create a visual story that you will always remember and enjoy.

Photographs can be framed using neutral, bright, or matte colors. The colors in the mats can bring out the blue in a child's eyes, the green trees of nature, and the fiery orange of a sunset. Mat openings can be any size or shape, and interesting combinations can be designed to suit your individual needs. These creative framing designs make interesting focal points suitable for any room in your home.

Bring in your photos—black-and-white or color, traditional or digital—and open your eyes to the multiple possibilities of framing memories. ■

A nine-opening black-and-white framed piece with a metal frame makes an impressive piece for any wall.

A three-opening black-and-white framed piece with a metal frame creates an interesting focal point for any room in your home.

Framing Plasma TVs

Many homes have a focal point in the family room, den, or living room—usually a television. Today, more and more families are making that focal point a high-definition plasma television. If you have a plasma TV or are thinking about getting one, consider having it wall mounted and framed like a piece of art.

Plasma TVs have to be framed according to where they are hanging, what type of wall they are hanging on, and their weight. Your TV may already be imbedded in a wall or mounted on one. Whatever is the case, we have a framing solution for you. Frames can be made that match your furniture and other objects in the room.

Once you frame the television, take it one step further and order software to transform the blank screen into a mirror or even a work of art. When your television is not on, images create an illusion that it is a painting. Many software companies have customized galleries or single images available for this. Another option is to use a canvas with art that lowers over the TV screen when it is not in use.

Framing your plasma TV adds a new dimension to your room and lends a sophisticated touch to your decor. Matching other furniture and objects in the room keeps a smooth, even look that would meet the standards of any interior designer. ■

Mailing Address Here

Your promotional or other information here